

There's No War In This Love

Andrew Jackson Jihad

I think I should like to wear your face see the world through your eyes I'd go up and down and I'd go all around the town feel human for once in my life

I think I should cut me open and take out all of my bad things I'd put them in a pan and I'd fry them up with oil and I would put them back inside of me

I'd pull you apart so I can poke and prod your soul I couldn't help but notice that its so damn beautiful I'd think of my own but I would draw a blank 'cause where mine was is now just a hole we are fighting a war a war that is bound to end all wars when we all have died no one is alive we won't fight anymore life is a two way path to nowhere let's let our conscience be our guide with no expectations of the afterlife we can be proud of how we lived while we're alive