

Fireflies

Andy Grammer

Oh yeah
Driving through streetlight
Watching the nightlife
Behind the glass, I'm driving home
I chased the fireflies
Caught them and realized
They are the bugs when the flash is gone

Ladies are glowing
Guys are holding jars
Summer breeze blowing
Both are chasing stars

And it's all that we know
All that we know
It's all that we know

But she's needing more than love of her light, eh yeah
And all the explorers come at night, oh no no
But tired and worn, she knows what will catch their eyes, oh
She is a gorgeous firefly
As she flies by

Waiting for loved ones to slide to the forefront
Fellas start pondering their lives
We want a knockout
Don't want to block out
Women we know we need to survive

Ladies are glowing
Guys are holding jars
Summer breeze blowing
Both are chasing stars

And it's all that we know
It's all that we know
All that we know

She's needing more than love of her light, oh no
And all the explorers come at night, eh yeah eh
Well tired and worn, she knows what will catch their eyes, oh
And she is a gorgeous firefly

And we both wish
The other
Would see past
The cover
And the leading man
And the leading lady
Need to take a stand
Maybe then, just maybe

She's needing more than love of her light
And all the explorers come at night, oh no no
Tired and worn, she knows what will catch their eyes, oh oh
And she is a gorgeous firefly

She flies by
