

First Time

Andy Grammer

Young gun, worried that you're moving too fast
Deep down, knew it was never gon' last
And you took her heart, now you're giving it back
Mmm, now you're giving it back

At first, she'll get quiet, feel the air change
She will not cry, but the color will run from her face
And you'll never be ready, never be the same
Never forget your first time, first time
Watching a heart break

Watching a heart break

Young gun, don't go wasting more time
There will never be a moment that's right, will there?
Once you're sure, you can never think twice
Mmm, you can never think twice

At first, she'll get quiet, feel the air change
She will not cry, but the color will run from her face
And you'll never be ready, never be the same
Never forget your first time, first time
Watching a heart break

Watching a heart break, watching a heart break
Watching a heart break, watching a heart break

Young gun, worried that you're moving too fast
Took her heart, now you're giving it back