

Hello World

Andy Mineo

Hello world
Ain't no friend of ya
So quit with all the smiles I wont bend for ya
I'm walkin' straight better now than ever
I guess I started late now my heart's awake
When did this all begin I guess it's hard to say
All I really know is that something happened inside of me
And it was not my own I was chosen
Now I'm flippin' paper for the prophets
I ain't talking about how my pockets grown
Not the paper with the dead people faces
Talking about them dudes that I read in the pages
Now I'm seeing clear but I ain't got Lasik
I'm thinking about my past I never shoulda made it
But God in His grace saw it fit to come and snatch me up
I draw the line in the sand no I ain't backing up
Back in the days I was acting up
You know when communion came your boy had to pass the cup Pass the bread too sin I was still in Offering went in the plate my condoms almost fell in Outside I'm feelin' cool inside I'm yelling
Outside lookin' free inside's like a felon
Doing time for rebelling a slave to that sin that I was dwellin'
' in Bought the lie they were selling like go, get as many girls as you can
And get it out of your system now so you'll put a rrrrring on t hat hand
Down the line when your thirty after you had like thirty differ ent women
They so pretty feeling clean ... getting dirty
Yuck, now what a lie from the mouth of Satan
Let's use logic for verifying these statements
Well you keep chasing them you'll only want more
Sin is never satisfied boy we at war with ourselves
You ever want something so bad it was all you could think about

Yo you had to have it Then you finally get it you like it for a minute but then your eyes pivot
Now your on to something different we got God-sized longings
Why you try to fill em with them things that you can't take wit h you in the coffin
