

You Remind Me

Andy Shauf

You remind me of everything I love
Yeah, you remind me of everything I love

The straw underneath this blanket and the stars that catch your eyes and the moment where you are closer by my side

you remind me of everything I love
yeah, you remind me of everything I love

a smile spreads to another and another after that with the thought that it's only love if it's loving you back and my eyes are closed and your hand is there, oh my dreams are taking,

and you have your share you're so beautiful in this room above where the paint is peeling and i'll realize that i'm in pain

you remind me of everything I love
yeah, you remind me of everything I love

a smile thats so much bigger than the smiles that i have seen and it makes me realize that there is so much more than what I have seen