

Life of the Party

Angaleena Presley

shades pulled down, is it ten or two did you paint the town, was it red or blue last night's face on your pillowcase last call's fool laying next to you

It's just another day, another wasted day finishing what you started it's just another day in the life of the party you find your dress and your high-heeled shoes try to straighten up the mess last night made of you walk the walk of shame, take the long way home don't remember anything, just that you're all alone

(3x):

It's just another day, another wasted day
finishing what you started
it's just another day in the life of the party
