Legions of Destruction

Angel Dust

It must happened in another time In another place called 'FAAR' The sky was red and cloudless Darkness blocked out the stars It was a time of pain and death When only the bad did survive When you had, what you possessed Was a weapon and your life Just a few were strong enough To play the deadly game Against the legions of death The legions of destruction It must happened in another time In another place called 'FAAR' A bloody tyrant Leads the fates of 'FAAR' The legions obey his command To spread his reign of terror Up and down the land At the risk of their lives Hit and run in the night At the risk of their lives Sworn to die, kill and fight