Empty Street

Angelic Upstarts

Walking on the empty street with tomorrow on my mind. Every day it seems the same I find it hard to reason why, A reason why.

I see the man in the big black car wishing he could have my pla ce.

Give him just a week of my life and wipe the smile off from his face,

Off from his face.

Searching is a task I face, day to day as great as the last. Why can $\ensuremath{\mathsf{S}}$