I lay my eyes in the past From the first day to the last Several things we had to learn Countless mistakes from times of yore Now we restart, we recreate Your present is your fate Don't turn your backs on mankind! Only yourselves you wanna save Ignorance burns just like a fire Consuming people on its flame Fellow creatures, so wonderful! So different and so grand Sprouts of time The roots evolving The seeds for the future were scattered yesterday Tomorrow's harvest field we plant today Your crown will ever last The tall trees of life (Life experience) Break your shell reach the light! (Mind and sould) Find your path to the skies (Will come around on a thunder sound) Raging with power and fury the new born world Sprouts of time The roots evolving The seeds from the past branching out Growing forever Hands on heart. Embrace each other The dances, the faces, the smiles Behind the past New seasons bring the chance To start again Tall trees will ever last The circles of life