

I Won't Stop Loving You

Anita Ward

Today, It's raining outside
And my mind is on you
And all of the love that we shared
And all the joys I have in loving you

And Darling I, I know you've lied to me
Making sweet promises that I knew you could not keep
But I won't stop loving you

And tho I know I've been enough a fool
Then I seem by loving you
But in each lie, Ooh somebody, somebody's got used
Once a broken heart for such a fool

And darling my, My eyes may be filled with tears
The joys of having loving you remain within me for years
But I won't stop loving you, oooh

When I'm, When I'm all alone
And I'm feelin', feelin' sad and blue
Tho sweet, sweet things that you always say
Brings up, Brings up my day

But even tho we may never, never, never love again
And this love affair was just too much, had to end
But we have shared love and seen of having loved
And I will meet you lover from above

And Darling my, My heart is full of pain
If I had to do it all over, I would do it all over again
Cause I won't stop, won't stop loving you
Won't stop, won't stop loving you

I just won't, I just won't stop loving you baby
(Loving you)
(I won't stop loving you)
(I won't stop loving you)
(I won't stop loving you)
(I won't stop loving you)
