

Open Ended

Ann Beretta

We were here before you came, So save your pace for a rainy day
, You know we can do it all without you, So burn your bridges at the stake, Because everyday is a rainy day, You know we will do it all again. You know we can do it all without you, You know we can do it all again.

So take your memories and this

From now on

Then you're on our list

You got lots more life, That will leave this open ended. So burn your bridges at the stakes

Because everyday's a brand new day, And you know we can do it all again. You know we can do it all without you

You know we can do it all again.