

See You in My Memories

Anna Graceman

See You In My Memories

You've been through so many trials
You've told a heart breaking story
You were the warrior that stood before me during the fight
Telling me everything's gonna be fine.
Now that you're gone, I don't know who or what to fall upon
And my life, doesn't seem just right
I know heaven is just a theory,
But I'll see you in my memories

You watched me grow from a baby
And held my hand through hard times
And you told me the end of a life is just a new beginning
Telling me, Everything's gonna be fine
You're not around, my world seems to be crashin down
And my life, doesn't seem just right
I know heaven is just a theory,
But I'll see you in my memories

I remember your eyes, your hands, your words, your laugh
Tears on the pictures you took of us
I know that everything's gonna be fine
But sometimes memories aren't enough!

You taught me to be true to myself
To be strong through all times
And you told me to never give up on any of my dreams
Telling me, Everything's gonna be fine
You're not around, my world seems to be crashin down
And my life, doesn't seem just right
I know heaven is just a theory,
But I'll see you in my memories