My Secret

Anna Ternheim

Today must have been one of the strangest days Some would say that you won't find love that way The best days are not planned by common sense By lack of time You just happen to be where everything feels fine

It's a new secret i have found

From today i'll change my priorities around I'm no longer in command, and people say I'm off solid ground and you're to blame But they don't understand, people never do It's confusing, i don't expect them to

It's a new secret i have found

Today must have been one of the strangest days I found a place where i could stay And people say that it will kill me, But they don't understand People never do, but it makes sense to me To be senseless to change my plans for you

It's a new secret i have found

And i'm off solid grounds for you