

Bursting

Anne Clark

Bursting in a thousand places
Like a bottle of champagne
Burst all over me

Burst all over me

Foaming like a wild horse
Your breath will beat on me
Pulling me tighter with your reins
My eyes will burn on you
Burn on you

My Heart will beat so loudly
Like a drumming through your brain
Then when you think I've finished
I shall beat on you again

My flesh will hit on you
Like waves against a rock
Like being dragged under water
We will fight against the shock

I will hold you in my arms
As the night turns into day
And when i squeeze you tighter
You won't pull away

Like a flash of flame
I will lick you with my tongue
Wetness shall cool the fire
And no bells shall be rung

We shall tire eventually
After we've fulfilled our needs
Until love becomes the hunger once more
And we start once again our feed
Bursting in a thousand places
Like a bottle of champagne
Burst all over me
