

Shame On Me

Anne Murray

Shame on me
I was not blind
Baby I could see
Every little thing you were doing to me
But I let you be cruel
I wasn't just another fool you were using
You can't break this heart
It will only bruise
You ain't gonna hear me crying the blues
Love's the kind of game where both sides
Share the blame for losing
Shame on you, you were so bad
Shame on you for driving me mad
I let your misery keep me company
So baby, shame on me.
My poor heart's got a checkered past
I'm still searching for a love that will last
I want someone true and steady
Don't you know I'm ready and willing?
I hope for the best. I expect the worst
Some times I even let myself get hurt
But I'll take another chance
Cause every new romance is thrilling
Shame on you, you were so bad
Shame on you for driving me mad
I let your misery keep me company
So baby, shame on me.
You'd like to think you broke my heart in two
You'd like to think that I'll never get over you
Shame on you for driving me mad
Shame on you, baby you were so bad I let your misery keep me company
So baby, shame on me
Shame on you
Baby, shame on me
Shame on you
Honey, shame on me
A fool for love sees what she wants to see
So baby, shame on me
Shame on you.
Shame on me.
Shame on you.
Shame on me.
