Ghosts in My Machine

Annie Lennox

Oh come and take this pain away Oh come and take this pain away Oh come and set my spirit free I've seen too much I know too much I hurt too much I feel too much I dread too much I dream too much I'm caught up by the ghosts in my machine I'm bruised and battered by the storm Can't find a place to keep me warm My mind is broken and forlorn I think too much I do too much I fall too much I fail too much I cry too much I die too much I'm haunted by the ghosts in my machine Give me some of that medicine To make me forget (i can't find it) I need something easier (can't find it) 'cuz I ain't found it yet I ain't found it yet I ain't found it Oh no no no Oh womankind was born of pain My soul keeps hurting just the same Oh come and take this pain away I give too much Get used too much I lose too much Get bruised too much I bleed too much I need too much I'm sleeping with the ghosts in my machine I said I love you baby Guess I always do I said I love to baby Guess I always do I said I love you baby Guess I always do