

The Believer

Annisokay

(I remember becoming a believer
I remember when my heart has caught the fever
I remember becoming a believer
I remember and my heart has caught the fever)

I remember becoming a believer
I remember when my heart has caught the fever
I mean after all the things we've been through
I mean after all the things we got into

So it just hurts my soul
I may never know
So it just hurts my soul
How I feel for you

You walk around like you don't know me
You're just pushing me down, pushing me down
To my surprise a fuck is my replacement
The biggest douchebag in this town

And I know that love is mean

I know that I cared but it was never enough
I know I was there but it was never near enough

When my eyes are wet and sore I can't see you anymore
When I never see your face again
My world would be such a better place

(I still remember)
It ain't complicated, I've grown to hate it
(Say you will remember)
Does it make you feel good, knowing that you could

So it just hurts my soul
I may never know
So it just hurts my soul
How I feel for you

You walk around like you don't know me
You're just pushing me down, pushing me down
To my surprise a fuck is my replacement
The biggest douchebag in this town

And I know that love is mean, and I know that love hurts
But I still remember, say you will remember
But I still remember, say you will remember