

Don't kill that man, don't kill that man
He could be the one that brings you gifts for Christmas
Don't kill that man, don't kill that man
He could be the one for free without the dullness

This could be great
Don't just let go
He might be the one to know

The way he should be love
A few words I renounce
To lighten up your days with shadows fade away
But I'm not sure he's safe
No, I'm not sure yet
Don't just let go

Don't kill that man, don't kill that man
He could be the one to trust when you've been lied to
Don't kill him yet, don't kill him yet
He could be the one you can turn your blind eye to

This is pure gut
Don't just let go
He could be that man who knows

The way he should be love
A few words I renounce
To lighten up your days with shadows fade away
But I'm not sure he's safe
No, I'm not sure yet
He could be that man who knows

Who knows, knows...
Who knows, knows...
Who knows, knows...

(He could be the one, he could be the one)
(He could be the one, he could be the one)
(He could be the one, he could be the one)

(He could be the one, he could be the one)
(He could be the one, he could be the one)
(He could be the one, he could be the one)
