

Silence

Anthony Evans

Questions left unanswered
Feels like my prayers are hitting these walls

So I'm left here wondering

If you can still here me

Here me at all

I've been here so long

That my faith is getting weak

So I just have to believe

Maybe You're speaking

Through the silence

Maybe it's all I need to hear

Give me the patience

In it's quiet

I need to rest here

And be okay To Wait

My frail souls guarded

When did I start not believing that You

(Ooh)

That You are who you

Promised you'll be faithful to finish

What you said You would do

Although right now

I can't hear you speaking

I will choose to believe

Maybe You're speaking

Through the silence

Maybe it's all I need to hear

Give me the patience

If it's quiet

I need to rest here

And wait

For You as long as it takes
I will wait

I wait for You

As long as it takes

I will wait

Maybe You're speaking

Through the silence

Maybe it's all I need to hear

Give me the patience

In, in this it's quiet

I need to rest here

Maybe You're speaking

Through the silence

Maybe it's all I need to hear

Give me the patience

If it's quiet

I need to rest here

And be okay

For You as long as it takes

I will wait

I wait for You

As long as it takes

I will wait

For You
