

What can you tell me

Anthony Stewart Head

What can you tell me?
Someone's always pulling the rug from under your feet
And they're pulling it away from you.
Someone's always pulling the rug from under your feet
And they've done it your whole life through.
Everything you say
Everything you do
She said he's shielding you - from disappointment
It was like the clouds parted
And a shaft of light shone from Heaven
And a weight lifted off my shoulders.