Crime

Anti-Nowhere League

Brother to brother

Man to man

Nation to nation

We enter the age of...Crime

I see the shadows of the rising sun
I stand aside as the deed is done
And I have wandered through the darkest nights
To see the coming of the Israelites

And I have walked across the waters To hear the voices of the battle song And I have coveted the daughters Of the women of Babylon

And I have seen them fall Without emotion And I have tasted wealth God knows it's a crime

I see religion cut a land in two I turned away as the violence grew I saw a man reach for the stars As hunger raged down in Africa

And I have walked across the waters To hear the voices of the battle song And I have coveted the daughters Of the women of Babylon

And I have seen them fall Without emotion
And I have tasted wealth
God knows it's a crime
It's a crime
It's a crime
It's a crime

I am the soldier of a hundred shores I bear the scars of a thousand wars I was the child who cried alone I am the seed that you have sown

And I have walked across the waters To hear the voices of the battle song And I have coveted the daughters Of the women of Babylon

And I have seen them fall Without emotion
And I have heard the call Without devotion
And I have tasted wealth
God knows it's a crime

It's a crime
It's a crime

It's a crime
It's a crime
It's a crime
It's a crime
