

Back in Year Zero

Antidote

They throw bombs on other countries
And they fight another race
But this world is all we have
It's not a toy that you can waste

So as long as people kill each other
In war or on the chair
People will die innocent
Because no-one can judge fair