How Can We Live Tomorrow

Antidote

The rich are getting richer
The poor are getting less
I don't see any changes
It's getting a big mess

How can we live tomorrow if there's no reason to live today How can we live tomorrow if there's no reason anyway

People get divided No longer in control What's the point in living If we have no say at all

Some people live in castles While others starve to death The gap is getting wider This world is going mad
