

Victim

Antidote

You say the world is going nowhere
You shout the system's got to fall
Behave like you're a black sheep in the masses
But aren't you a lemming after all?

If you really want to make a difference
Act up and start thinking for yourself
In the end you do just what the masses do
So come on, come out of your shell

You think you are a victim of the system
But you're nothing but a victim of yourself
