

Fell On Deaf Ears

Antifreeze

Forgive me my heart is breakin, i've been taking myself seriously. you put thumbtacks on my drawbacks. since you've marked them they're all i see. im sorry i've been so sincere. excuse my words, my breath, my tears. forgotten is the light i saw, replaced it with my greatest flaw. because im all worn out, from being all torn down. double-sided you left me on the ground, now i know what you think of me. what do i think of you? not at all. i can't see why you hurt me. now im burning, set the world ablaze. the world stops as my heart drops, i've been falling for the last three days, and i can't talk and i don't care. my simple words fell on deaf ears. i close my eyes but you're still there, hanging on to all my fears.