

Facing Dawn

Anubis Gate

Take a seat
The air is bittersweet
Yesterday's news

If I had the strength to see beyond myself
I might refuse

Trembling boy defends his weaker hand with pride and joy

Watching as my life implodes into the night
Facing dawn

No, I can't give you reason
And I won't search for treason
In a world where I belong

And I don't need no answers
No questions need no answers
An inhuman fight for treasures
In this world where I belong
Just before
I face the dawn

Roll the dice
A day in paradise
The blind may lead the blind

Taken by the rise and lost to endless lows and groundless highs

As this game of chance dissolves into the night
I'm facing dawn

No, I can't give you reason
And I won't search for treason
In a world where I belong

And I don't need no answers
No questions need no answers
An inhuman fight for treasures
In this world where I belong
Just before I face the dawn

I'm master of naiveté
And with everything I own In case the night should turn to grey

I'm praying to be reborn Before I face
the dawn