

One with the Shadows

Apathy

Many are those who walk in the dark Suspicious of the shadows closing in

Fear not the shadow but man instead
Let darkness sink in deep in your soul
Lead me to the dark of the heart
So the world may never harm me again

The sign of the serpent represented

Still today I lure the weak into temptation
But what is evil in their eyes these days

Oh mighty father I am free Free from your grasp
No longer your slave Free from your chains

I state abandonment, now take my hand
And you shall be released from the strings of your god
No longer a puppet but a burning spirit instead It's not my work nor my deed, the spirits are leaving me

"Remember son, do not wander in the dark"

Fear not the shadow but man instead
Let darkness sink in deep in your soul (your soul is mine)
What makes me adore this so, leading me in a trance Further into the heart of the dark?

Symbols and signs shall bring forth time what never was completed
The horns of baphomet is set straight Into a hole where all guidelines shall be thrown life shall be as before in it's purest form