When the night falls down on me
Endless story`s like the sky you see
I try to find
A way to ease my mind

And all the thoughts day capture They seem to clear up in the dark And all the fights caused fracture But you won't hear my cry

`Cause I wish I knew the right words for you And I wish I could set stars to guide you through But there are things, things I just can`t do How this story ends - don`t know

But wind won`t take my dreams away This fairytale won`t leave my mind Even though I find no words to say I have no strength to fight But I'll stay

Now take my hand Forever I'll stay by your side

In dreams we're flying right through the open sky In the moonlit, horizon
The seas, so bright

No matter what No matter what day seize All I can give you is a kiss
