

Sorry

Aquilo

The note you wrote upon the shelf
I frozen there in silver doubt
My heart was breaking by the shore
And I couldn't give you anymore

And I'm still shaken
And crawling back again
And all my brothers
And all my sisters are gone

I'm sorry that I've let you go
I'm sorry that I've cared
I'm sorry that the feeling showed
And I just wasn't there

And reminded of the fool I was
I cut you off and fucked it up again
I'm sorry that I've let you go
I'm sorry that I've cared

This pillow case smells of you
And time itself stops to prove
And for a moment nothing changed
And everything stays the same

And I'm still shaken
And crawling back again
And all my brothers
And all my sisters are gone

I'm sorry that I've let you go
I'm sorry that I've cared
I'm sorry that the feeling showed
And I just wasn't there

And reminded it the fool I was
I cut you off and fucked it up again
I'm sorry that I've let you go
I'm sorry that I've cared

I left the light on
So you could see me in the dark
But then it blinded us
And left us who we are

I'm sorry that I've let you go
I'm sorry that I've cared
I'm sorry that the feeling showed
And I just wasn't there

And reminded it the fool I was
I cut you off and fucked it up again
I'm sorry that I've let you go
I'm sorry that I've cared
