

Someone Else

Arco

saw an old friend just this evening we go back a real long way conversation kept returning to the same old things we always say

getting tired of myself
wanna be someone else

and he asked me an opinion and i couldn't say for sure had a head full of ideas don't care what i think no more

getting tired of myself
wanna be someone else

if only children knew the lives their dreams eventually resolve to i wonder what they'd do saw another perfect stranger would have once meant everything didn't even raise an eyebrow it's just the way it's always been

getting tired of myself
wanna be someone else