"Welcome This transmission From a fallen star Otherwise known as Arcturus"

Light has departed From this black sun But please put us on To bring darkness down From your head and home

Our enterprise a success As return is no option Our eyes were removed For our own safety

The distance too great For you to hear our cries Nevermind take this lamp We are beyond light

We learned so little Of inhuman culture Before disappearance Went right through us

The mothership Boarded by fools We escape space In order to reach Our destination

And if you are listening Please tell us about the time Where and when we exist No more

For when you go We go with you Via wormholes

Arcturus
