Circus

In the circus each must play a part The clown, the jester, mirror the meaning of their art In the circus you can be fool or may be king The sound of laughter is in the wedding of the ring.

But all are found, seeking the love of the crowd And all are reaching out In the circus, in the circus, in the circus In the circus, in the circus In the circus, in the circus, in the circus.

Argent