The Feeling's Inside

When you woke up on this cold winter's day, She looked so beautiful, you cried. And if you're feeling very good today, it's 'cause you love her , the Feelings Inside.

She bought you coffee in a special cup Which made you warm from deep inside. And if you're feeling very good today, It's cause you love her, the feelings inside.

And you begin to feel your life was changed

Because you loved, her there is nothing to hide, And 'though you know how well, it still seems strange To think you loved her, you loved her.

She bought you coffee in a special cup Which made you warm from deep inside. And if you're feeling very good today, It's cause you love her, the feelings inside.
