Deathminded

Armagedda

In this cold night
I feel my soul life again
when i think of the world that i left beyond this dark side

The true evil against humans Is still alive inside me All i can feel is emptiness From the dark angel's power

When the time has come i will return with death on my mind
And with my immortality
You will be prepared to die

I can hear voices voices from the dark past My fantasies turn real then the dead lives again

I saw the truth when i walked the eternal journey the future of the world will burn in my flames