

Elegy

Arrayan Path

I have been yearning
For the angel to return
I have been burning
All my bridges in this world
I've lost my guidance
I don't know what I want
It's hard to say goodbye
It's hard to be alone

I have been turning
To a million other ways
To fight the pain
And from my loss to have
At least something to gain
There's no use trying
Cause only time will heal
This is the life
That I've chosen to live

Shout it out
Shout it out loud
And tell those people in this town
That the world is never ending
To ourselves we're still depending
Our mistakes we are defending
In the end we're just pretending
To be strong

I found the answer
The pain's too much to take
It spreads like cancer,
The sadness in my veins
She was the answer,
Made me a better man
Forgive me angel,
It's no more in our hands

Solo: Socrates

Shout it out
Shout it out loud
And tell those people in this town
That the world is never ending

To ourselves we're still depending
Our mistakes we are defending
In the end we're just pretending
To be strong

Shout it out loud