

I Sail Across the Seven Seas

Arrayan Path

Warrior, won't you dive
Into the depths of Hades
Warrior, won't you dive
Into the depths of Hades

You chose the wrong time to tell me lies
Your soul put prison for a price
Your kind will be slaughtered here at
The court of Odysseus

Warrior, won't you dive
Into the depths of Hades

What kept me going through the war
Was a vision of a kingdom that I saw
A sweet embrace awaiting
So many years now lost in the ancient
Winds that will take me back
To the one I love

You'll see his shadow appear before thee
And you will see what it takes to be king

I found my way into a dream of war
And things of what you will never know
I saw what it means "want it all"
And you won't borrow
You won't sell my dream
With your deception or so it seems
I sail across the seven seas

You chose the wrong time to tell me lies
Your soul put prison for a price
Your kind will be slaughtered here at
The court of Odysseus
Lord of this house, king of the island
In your deforming eyes

My son, I missed all the tears that he shed
The trees the mountains
The soil they have bled

I found my way into a dream of war
And things
Of what you will never know
I saw it all

Sometimes more than I wanna know
Burning my dreams in my mind
Or so it seems
Cause I sail across the seven seas