

I see the way we coincide
And it's nothing more than chance.
If I were on for feeling fate,
I'll be none for you to trust.
So never tell me that I think of you holding on
To all these solid bodies sinking me
They're far gone!

Living is an open sea and the' knows my length
So silent is a stranger's home when the hour cut me dead.
I'll never roll away, away of you
Seems too much!
I'll never hate the way I wanted to
Not enough!

So I come by light
I know that you're lying
And all that I'm waiting for
The looking in and waiting on
Just anything, the destine settling

So ' is stating truth
I feel new,
We're leaving'it holds me
All too hard
Replacing the feelings so soon
' just like I don't Believe in all I do!

So I come by light
I know that you're lying
And all that I'm waiting for
The looking in and waiting on
Just anything, the destine settling
The destine settling