

Hello nostalgia
Seems I'm back in this place once again
And I've got no way out
I found ya
On your knees, beggin' me once again
You're a habit I can't kick
You were the one, I gave you everything
Yeah, everything
But now it's nothing but a memory

So I'll figure it out
Get off the ground
Realize I don't need you around
And I see through your lies
Your clever disguise
You had me caught in your sapphire eyes
But I am learning how to look the other way
And break your reign on me

Darling you should be shaking
To the core, don't you realize the power I've come to possess now
You can hate me
All you want but don't put up
This front that you're happy 'cause I know
You're as sad as they come
Do you remember we had everything? Oh
I twist it all into a memory

So I'll figure it out
Get off the ground
Realize I don't need you around
And I see through your lies
Your clever disguise
You had me caught in your sapphire eyes
But I am learning how to look the other way
And break your reign on me

And break your reign on me

Oh, so I'll figure it out
Get off the ground
Realize I don't need you around
And I see through your lies
Your clever disguise
You had me caught in your sapphire eyes
But I am learning how to look the other way
And break your reign on me