

The Best That You Can Be

Artist vs. Poet

When it all comes crashing down
And you feel no one around
Baby girl, don't hide, hold your head up high
Cause you know I catch you before you hit the ground

The words cut deep I know
And the pain will surely grow
But your wounds will fade with every step you take
So please know you're not alone

And in time you will see
The best that you can be

Oh, the weight is heavy now
And your mind is troubled with doubt
I know, your faith is gone but keep racing on
'Til you break free of the ground

And in time you will see
The best that you can be
Oh in time you will see
Oh the best, oh the best
The best that you can be

Cause it's so hard, so hard, when you
Have lost control
(Why don't we runaway)
It was never as easy as it was
(We can leave our problems at the door)
Before you and I lost touch
(So why don't we runaway)
And I've found what I've been missing lately
(You're the only one that can be my rescue)
The reason why my heart's [been racing]
(Adorable as hell)
It's a damn rough night for the designated driver
(There's nothing wrong with the way I light up when you're around)
(Do anything you want but don't keep me out)
'Cause it's me and whoever and you know we won't remember
And how do we find ourselves
(You know that in the end)
(You're my favorite)
When this world brings so much pain
(I'll Relapse again)
And you're my favorite fix

And in time you will see
The best that you can be
And in time you will see
The best, oh the best
The best that you can be
