Wasn't Worth It

Artist vs. Poet

I'm wasting all my time Just thinking of every single line To tell you that I am doing fine, But that don't mean shit.

And I read the warning signs As your hands were feeling up my thighs, I flashed back to every time you lied And I'm over it.

You're the reason I don't believe.

And I, am trying to decide If you're even worth my time But I'm haunted by the best you've shown me And I, am feeling like you might Just fuck it up and I I won't take the chance with you again, with you again.

Was it worth it when you threw out our plans To take over the world, go hand in hand, Just so you could have a one night stand? Well ain't that a bitch?

(Girl's such a bitch man)

And I kind of feel this is the part Where I have to show you all my scars You made with your ever changing heart That you'll never fix.

You're the reason I don't believe.

And I, am trying to decide If you're even worth my time But I'm haunted by the best you've shown me And I, am feeling like you might Just fuck it up and I, I won't take the chance with you again, with you again

No I don't need you! I'm better off on my own. No I don't need you, You or anyone Anyone

And I, am trying to decide If you're even worth my time But I'm haunted by the best you've shown me And I, am feeling like you might Just fuck it up and I, I won't take the chance with you again, with you again.

And I, am feeling like it's time To let you go Cause I'm still haunted by you. Tištěnoz www.txp.cz