

Within Destruction

As I Lay Dying

If music is a mirror revealing
The depths of my heart
Then I will write the darkest song
For without forgiveness my soul is lost

All that is hope within destruction
Comes from you for I have fallen
All that is hope within destruction
Comes from you for I have fallen, fallen

If music is a mirror revealing
The depths of my heart
Then I will write the darkest song
For without forgiveness my soul is lost

All that is hope within destruction
Comes from you, you, you

For I have fallen and there is nothing good
Within me yet I've been given life
I will, I will never deserve
For without forgiveness, without forgiveness my soul is lost

All that is hope within destruction
All that is hope within destruction
All that is hope within destruction
All that is hope within destruction

All that is hope
All that is hope
All that is hope
All that is hope
