

Eclipsing Binary

Ashent

In this life it is sometimes necessary to go in reverse in order to move forward
If it is worth having, it is worth the sacrifice you have to make your dreams become reality

And I belong to us
We're the duel since the darkest conception
Sweat drops on the ground another nascent dream withers bleeding

The awareness of duality
So rational to draw grids
I'm the gift of the silent night
You're the sadist constructor that tries to forge
Our lifetime
We are part of the ruins of these falling empire
Expecting to hide the folly of this necessity to shine more than the sun

Here we are reversal motion
Following a never-ending revolution
We are an eclipsing binary
Your light that darkens me

We are left to rebuild the ashes sunk in the mire
Expecting to find the answers to this insanity
To shine bright as the sun

Here we are reversal motion
Following a never-ending revolution
We are an eclipsing binary
Egos trapped in reversal motion
Following a never-ending revolution
We are an eclipsing binary
Your light that darkens me
Regenerate my scars