

Save Your Heart

Lane, Asher

A troubled girl caught up in a spiderweb
Choking on the words he said - she's paralyzed
She's lost her smile thinks she'll never fall in love again
She can't escape the mess she's in a deep disguise

Wait a minute step back it's just a scar
You don't need to change the way you are Giving in is simple, letting go is hard something beautiful will save your heart

She walks alone and every thought cuts way too deep
Will this bitter pill set her free to sleep again insatiable she gave him all she had to give So how is she supposed to live with what remains

Wait a minute step back it's just a scar
You don't need to change the way you are
Giving in is simple, letting go is hard
something beautiful will save your heart

She wait in the fire
Just about to lose herself
She's about to lose

She waits in the fire
Pretending not to feel the pain
Pretending not to feel

Wait a minute step back it's just a scar
You don't need to change the way you are
Giving in is simple, letting go is hard
something beautiful will save your heart