

Waiting For Something

Lane, Asher

Another ordinary day
Everything still feels the same
Nothing ever seems to change

Why are we living in regret
For things undone and words unsaid
We think the best is yet to come

While they say 'embrace the moment'
and they say 'seize the day'

For all our lives we've borrowed time
While we're waiting for something
And all our lives we can't rewind
Still we're waiting for something

24/7 to 5
Is the biggest of your lies
Do I have to compromise?

It's just substitute for life
You're born you work and then you die you distraction is desire

Still they say 'embrace the moment'
And they say 'seize the day'

For all your life you've borrowed life
While you're waiting for something
Cause all your life you can't rewind
Still you're waiting for something

Feel life is change
It's not too late
To look for the lost things
No, never fade
It's not too late
You're more than you might think