

The Stone

ASHES dIVIDE

I've been pushing stones away far from these shores
I pretend that it's all OK
Till on the brink of what can't be endured

We survive what we can't change
So let it fade
Just let it go
We pretend so nothing does change
We're flowers never breaking through the stone.

I pretended and prayed it all away,
searching for a place to hide
But I don't need afflicted memories to fade,
I just want to feel something real inside.

We survive what we can't change
So let it fade
Just let it go
We pretend so nothing does change
We're flowers never breaking through the stone.

I've been pushing stones away
Far from these shores
I...
Pretend that it's all OK
Till on the brink of what can be endured

We survive what we can't change
So let it fade
Just let it go
We pretend so nothing does change
We're flowers never breaking through the stone
