Fervor

Ashes Remain

Sometimes I feel you like a raging storm. In your power I tremble. And in your arms I'm warm. In the Light I hear you. Screaming out my name. And in this life I need you, Need you to help me change.

Will you, will you take me further, Than I am willing to go? Will you, will you burn my fervor? Will you embrace my soul?

You're as close to me a the falling rain. You're as close as my sickness, as far away as my pain. In the Light I hear you. Screaming out my name. And in this life I need you, Need you to help me change.

Will you, will you take me further, Than I am willing to go? Will you, will you burn my fervor? Will you embrace my soul?

Will you, will you take me further, Than I am willing to go? Will you, will you burn my fervor? Will you embrace my soul? Will you, will you take me, take me! Than I am willing to go? Will you, will you burn my fervor? Will you embrace my soul?
