

So Far

Ashes Remain

This dream...
This feeling...
Is something I would never wish to keep...
It's lame...
It's broken just the same...
And everything I see is turning gray...

It's only just the start
It's only just this work of art
The colors form to paint you as you are.
Hanging on the wall
The best of you shines like a star
But I can see a trace of you that's far...

So far away from what you are...
What you've got, is all I want
You shine like a billion quasars
But you shine in a galaxy so far away from here...
So far away from here...

Riddled by the sun
You backed away from blades and guns
Spoken to the angels more than once
Electric in your mind
A message from another time
Can shake you up and make you want to slide...

So far away from what you are...
What you've got, is all I want
You shine like a billion quasars
But you shine in a galaxy
So far from what you are
What you've got, is all I want!
You shine like a million quasars
But you shine in a galaxy
So far away from here...
So far away from here...

You're so far away...
You're so far away...
You're so far away...

You're so far away...
You're so far away...
You're so far away...

So far away
