

You Always Could

Ashford & Simpson

You always could find that soft spot in me when I was angry
You always could jangle everything that I would say
Until you got it your way
I give a lot of credit to the fact you know me so well
I say it ain't true, but everybody can tell
So you see it ain't no mystery

You always could sing a lullaby
In tender words that I never heard
You always could think of some crazy little thing
That happens only in dreams
I never figured out
Was it just your style or grace
Others have tried and didn't get to first base
But it took nothing more than a look to know

You always could (4x)

Maybe I should fight back
But that don't change the natural fact that you always could
