Is anybody out there
Does anybody see
That when the lights are off something's killing me

I know it seems like people care
Cause they're always around me
But when the day is done and everybody runs
Who will be the one to save me from myself
Who will be the one who's there
And not ashamed to see me crawl
Who's gonna catch me when I fall
When the show is over
And it's empty everywhere
It's hard to face going back alone
So I walk around the city
Anything, anything to clear my head
I've got nowhere to go nowhere but home

Who will be the one to save me from myself Who will be the one who's there And not ashamed to see me crawl Who's gonna catch me when I fall It may seem I have everything But everything means nothing When the ride that you've been on That you're coming off Leaves you feeling lost Is anybody out there Does anyobdy see That sometimes loneliness is a part of me Who will be the one to save me from myself? Who will be the one who's there And not ashamed to see me crawl? Who's gonna catch me when I fall? Who's gonna catch me when I fall? Who's gonna catch me when I fall And not ashamed to see me crawl? Who's gonna catch me when I fall?
