Yours

Astrid van der Veen

So here I am, but I can't explain I think I wrote a thousand words but none of them could tell

I think I rather let it show than tell you with the words I know 'cause that would never do

I think it's good to be with you I think it's good to feel alive

I miss you more with all you do I only wish to be with you and I don't care for what that'll take

I love you more with every sigh I'm almost yours, just come to me and come a little closer

And I can't find a nicer friend and I can't find a better soul and I know there is no nicer friend and I know there is no soul, and no heart like yours

I'll be yours yours